Premier Defies Coup Attempt By Young Turks

Officers, Cadets Transferred To New Areas

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Premier Ismet Inonu received a standing ovation from Parliament Friday following collapse of an armed forces uprising against his government.

The white-haired, 78-year-old premier rose and nodded quietly to the more than 400 deputies from all political parties. They cheered him for more than three minutes.

It seemed appropriate acclaim for the one-time general who stubbornly refused to give in to demands from mutinous army units that he step down and clear the way for a new military government in Turkey.

The Turkish high command moved swiftly to heal breaches created between the armed forces in the short-lived uprising. About 70 reformist officers who led the mutiny were quietly transferred to new assignments, and 400 cadets, who supported the mutiny and patrolled Ankara's main thoroughfares for a while Thursday night, were shipped home for a month's leave of absence.

A spokesman denied Turkish press reports that 300 officers had been arrested. The spokesman, Hamulan Eviouoglu, said none of the officers and cadets involved in the uprising had been, or would be, arrested.

The mutinous army elements sought to bring down the Inonu government on the ground that it has been unable to get needed reform legislation through Parliament.

Reds May Have New System To Launch Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some government analysts believe the Soviet Union has developed a system of launching intercontinental missiles, spaceships and satellites from manned rocket planes. Such a system would have great military significance.

The experts' conclusions were made public Friday after having been kept secret for nine months. Their accuracy is not fully accepted by the government.

According to a 160-page report prepared by intelligence analysts, there is good reason to believe that two manned rocket planes attached to opposite sides of a powerful rocket engine have been used as the first stage in a number of Soviet space shots.

If the theory is correct, the planes were freed from the larger rocket near the fringes of space and were flown back to earth by their pilots. The second-stage rocket then continued into space, boosting a third stage which eventually completed the flight on its own.

The reported development could have great significance in missile warfare, since the first-stage rocket planes could be recovered and used again in future firings.

Japan To Buy Russian Oil

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan will purchase 3.4 million tons of Russian oil under an agreement signed Friday for a 1962 trade program between the two countries.

Last year's agreement called for imports of 1.7 million tons of Russian oil but actually purchases have been estimated at about 2.95 million tons.

The agreement calls for Japanese exports of $120 million and imports of $105 million, according to a foreign office announcement.

The goals represent increases of 40 per cent in Japan's exports and 30 per cent in imports, the announcement said.

Army Triples Ready Alert Manpower

Forces Increasing From Present Three To Eight Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is almost tripling the size of its ready-alert force, the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC) by expanding the organization from the present three divisions to eight.

Object of the reorganization, an announcement Friday said, is to provide a force big enough and flexible enough to cope with possible simultaneous troubles in widely separated areas of the world.

To do this, the Army has organized a second corps of STRAC units, thus providing one—the present outfit—which is essentially an airborne corps, the other heavy in armor.

The new corps, designated as the III Corps, will have headquarters at Ft. Hood, Tex. The commander has not yet been chosen.

Khrushchev noted that certain journalists profess to see a connection between the Western proposal that the Geneva conference start at the foreign ministers level and the statement of the U.S. and British governments "on their intention to resume nuclear weapon tests in the atmosphere."

Khrushchev repeated his warning that the danger of touching off a nuclear war by accident is growing. He said rocket weapons are becoming more and more numerous.

"We and you have thousands of them now," he said.

Khrushchev made clear that an old roadblock—the issue of inspection and controls—would confront any new East-West summit meeting on disarmament. As the Soviets have done for years, he rejected as espionage the safeguards the West insists must be established to insure universal compliance with any agreement to disarm.

Contents of the Khrushchev letter, delivered in Washington and London Thursday, were published by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Diplomatic sources said that Khrushchev's reply still left in doubt the big question—will he go to Geneva even if other national leaders stay home?

Kennedy and Macmillan insisted it would be best to start at the foreign ministers level to lay the groundwork for a later meeting of the chief executives.

No. Viet Nam Hits U. S. Policy

GENEVA (UPI)—Communist North Viet Nam charged Friday that the United States is preparing for a new Korean-type war in South Viet Nam.

Nguyen Thanh Le, deputy leader of the North Vietnamese delegation to the 14-nation Laos Conference here, told a news conference increased American military effort in South Vietnam was in violation of the 1954 agreement on the ending of the Indochinese war.

"The Americans are preparing for another Korea in South Viet Nam," he said.

The United States, he said, "does not hesitate to send American troops into South Viet Nam to massacre the South Vietnamese population."

He also charged the United States was continuing to obstruct a peaceful settlement of the Laos problem.

Smith Announces Plans To Give Up Senate Seat

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—Sen. Benjamin A. Smith II, D-Mass., announced Friday that he would leave the Senate when his term expires this year. The move might pave the way for a Senate bid by President Kennedy's youngest brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy.

Smith, appointed to President Kennedy's old Senate seat when he was elected President, gave no reason for his statement in a three-paragraph statement issued from his home here.

It was believed, however, it might open the way for the youngest Kennedy, who became to have been worthy of it."

Smith's announcement said: "A number of people have asked me about my intentions concerning the Senate seat I now occupy, which is up for election this year. I wish to state that I shall not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate this year."

"I shall continue to work as hard as I can to serve the people of Massachusetts until my term ends in November."

Thousands lined the route and pressed about him whenever his motorcade stopped.

A moving scene occurred at the Communist wall, where Kennedy laid a wreath "to the victims of Communism."

Thousands of West Berliners had gathered on their side of the grim concrete and barbed wire barricade to cheer him amid shouts of "Mauer weg!"—away with the wall.

On the Red side, as Kennedy stood at the wall, some East Berliners stuck their heads from windows of nearby buildings and fluttered cautious waves of greeting before quickly pulling back.

A spokesman for civil aviation authorities said there were no aircraft in the area at the time the explosions and lights were reported.

H. E. Armstrong May Throw Hat In Primary Ring

Baseball Manager Invited To Join Mahoney Ticket

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Herbert E. Armstrong, business manager of the Baltimore Orioles baseball club, said Friday he would decide during the weekend whether to enter politics.

The Democratic primary slate headed by gubernatorial candidate George P. Mahoney has asked Armstrong to fill the comptroller's opening on the ticket.

Armstrong, a former school teacher who joined the minor league Orioles 20 years ago and remained with the major league club, said he met with Mahoney's forces Thursday night during a fund-raising buffet and cocktail party.

"I told them I would give it (the offer) strong consideration," said Armstrong. He said he would not delay a decision, but added:

"I have certain angles to work on beforehand, including my obligations to the Orioles. Spring training just started this week and we're in our busy season."

Armstrong, who lives in Baltimore, would be making his political debut if he decided to make a run for comptroller.

The Mahoney ticket does not have a representative of Baltimore City, and Armstrong's name would supply geographical balance.

Meanwhile, Benjamin H. Murray, 33, a Baltimore County lawyer and sportsman filed in Annapolis Friday for Democratic nomination in the 2nd Congressional District.

Murray, who will be making his first try for public office without organized support, said he wanted "to make a noise" in the 2nd District campaign.

He is opposed by Dr. Clarence D. Long and Robert Y. Dubel, both of whom are aligned with factional tickets. The district is composed of Baltimore, Harford and Carroll counties and now is represented by Daniel B. Brewster, a candidate for U. S. senator on the Tawes ticket.

Charles Luthardt of Glen Burnie, one of seven Democratic gubernatorial candidates, said his major opposition in the race surrendered "to a small band of outside agitators" on the integration issue. He called it a "white flag of surrender."

"The white flag of surrender is their decision to support an equal accommodations law, which certainly is not giving any equal treatment to our restaurant owners who are desirous of protecting their investments."

Luthardt, an avowed segregationist and who has said he is a member of the John Birch Society, directed his statement to Gov. Tawes, David Hume and Mahoney.

Boy Denies He Started Fatal Fire

CHICAGO (UPI) — A nervous,

13-year-old boy denied Friday that he touched off a fire that killed 92 schoolmates and three nuns in Our Lady of the Angels parochial school.

The boy, clutching and unclenching his hands, testified reluctantly that he had signed a statement in front of a private life detector operator admitting that he deliberately set the holocaust.

But he said he gave the statement only after polygraph operator John E. Reid had questioned him for hours and told him he could go home if he answered the questions. And he testified he signed it only after Reid told him "you're acting like a baby."

The boy, whose name has not been revealed, told his story before family court Judge Alfred J. Cilella, who was hearing a state's attorney's petition that the lad be declared a delinquent.

Cilella took the case under advisement after a prosecutor argued that only "a preponderance of evidence" was necessary to support a delinquency finding and defense attorney said it was "terrible that a little 13-year-old boy should be subjected to such lie test."

Bomb On Airliner Remark No Joke

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A Charleston woman received a suspended 30-day jail sentence

Friday because she jokingly remarked that luggage about to be placed on an airliner contained a bomb.

Mrs. Caroline Ashley, 23, a divorcee and mother of two, pleaded no contest to the misdemeanor charge when arraigned before U. S. Judge John A. Field Jr.

Investigators told the court the incident occurred last Sunday as an acquaintance of Mrs. Ashley was preparing to board the plane at the Kanawha Airport here. Mrs. Ashley is employed at a insurance counter at the airport.

The citation read: "Lt. Col. Glenn's orbital flight made an outstanding contribution to the advancement of human knowledge of space technology and a demonstration of man's capabilities in space flight."

It added that his performance "was marked by his great professional skill, his skill as a test pilot, his unflinching courage, and his extraordinary ability to perform most difficult tasks under conditions of great physical stress and great danger."

Glenn, grinning broadly, stated: "I can't express my appreciation adequately to be here in accepting this when I know how many thousands of people all over the country were involved in helping accomplish what we did last Tuesday."

"I would like to consider I was a figurehead for this whole big tremendous effort and I'm very proud of the medal I have on my lapel."

Glenn Receives Welcome At Cape

It was a heart-warming occasion.

Johnson On Hand

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who introduced the President, called it "a proud moment."

He noted that Glenn's flight had been "dedicated to peace and peaceful cooperation. We rattled no sabres among the stars."

The President, in a jovial mood, recalled that when Glenn had visited him in the White House two weeks before his flight, the astronaut had said he wished the press would concern itself more with the scientific aspects of flight rather than personal things like his wife's hair.

"My own feeling," the President said, "is that they are both equally important in the sense that we are proud of this trip because of its scientific achievement and we are also proud of the men and women who are involved in it."

This drew a chuckle from Glenn and he stroked his wife's hair.

"Our boosters may not be as large as some others," Kennedy continued, "but the men and women are."

Honors Gilruth

He then summoned Gilruth to the stand to present him the NASA medal "for distinguished leadership of the team of scientists and engineers that carried Project Mercury from its inception to the successful accomplishment of man's flight in orbit around the earth."

Gilruth, a generally quiet man, accepted the medal with head bowed and could say little more than "I'm very proud."

Calling Glenn to his side, the President said it was very appropriate that a Marine should be so honored on this day—the 17th anniversary of the date Marines raised the American flag on Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Jima.

"We also realize that not in the too distant future," Kennedy said, "a Marine or a Navy man or an Air Force man will put the American flag on the moon."

With both men standing erect, the President attached the large medal to Glenn's coat.

The Citation

The citation read: "Lt. Col. Glenn's orbital flight made an outstanding contribution to the advancement of human knowledge of space technology and a demonstration of man's capabilities in space flight."

It added that his performance "was marked by his great professional skill, his skill as a test pilot, his unflinching courage, and his extraordinary ability to perform most difficult tasks under conditions of great physical stress and great danger."

"I would like to consider I was a figurehead for this whole big tremendous effort and I'm very proud of the medal I have on my lapel."

Introduces Family

Then Glenn called his wife and children to his side and introduced them.

Anna, beaming happily, displayed a gold lapel pin Glenn had carried on his world-circling trip and presented to her on their reunion Friday morning. The pin is oval shaped, with two tiny red rubies in one corner and engraving referring to the Mercury project in the other.

Flanking the platform were two Mercury space capsules—the Friendship 7 which Glenn rode into orbit and the one astronaut Donald K. Slayton is scheduled to ride on a similar trip in about two months. Slayton and the other five astronauts were on hand to share in Glenn's great day.

Kennedy appeared to have a great interest in the things he saw at Cape Canaveral on this, his first visit here. He listened intently while Glenn explained intricacies of the capsule and while they toured the Mercury control center with its maze of electronic instruments, charts, plotboards and consoles. And he seemed impressed by the huge gantry launching pad No. 14.

In all, Kennedy was on the Cape 1 hour, 37 minutes. He flew here from Palm Beach in his presidential jet, landing at an air-strip on the Cape. He returned to Palm Beach afterward.

Glenn flew into Patrick by jet at 8:40 a.m. from Grand Turk Island, where he underwent two days of extensive post-flight examination following his recovery from the sea Tuesday.

Johnson flew to Grand Turk from Washington earlier and accompanied Glenn from the remote island.

He then summoned Gilruth to the stand to present him the NASA medal "for distinguished leadership of the team of scientists and engineers that carried Project Mercury from its inception to the successful accomplishment of man's flight in orbit around the earth."

At Patrick, Glenn had an emotional reunion with Anna and the children. His eyes glistened as he embraced his wife and he pulled a handkerchief from his pocket to wipe away some tears.

Other members of the family, who had flown to Florida Thursday, greeted him tearfully.

Included were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn Sr., of New Concord, Ohio; Anna's parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Castor, also of New Concord, and Mr. and Mrs. James Hosey of Pittsburgh, Anne's brother-in-law and sister.

After the joyful reuniting of the family, the entire group, all the other astronauts and space officials climbed into convertibles for the modest motorcade to the Cape.

Glenn rode with Anna and Vice President Johnson. He smiled constantly as they passed the cheering crowds. Banners along the route proclaimed: "We are proud, John." "You are an American hero." "Welcome back and well done."

Pass Not Needed

At the gate to Cape Canaveral, Glenn showed his identification pass—but to smiling, waving guards, it was not necessary. They waved him right through.

The motorcade went directly to the airstrip to await the President's plane.

One of the President's first comments was that Glenn is learning that "the real hazards of the flight begin after the actual flight is over."

After the President departed, Glenn and the family secluded themselves for lunch and their first real moments together in three weeks. The meal took longer than expected and Glenn showed up 24 minutes late for his news conference at the Cape press site, where newsmen from around the world covered his historic liftoff on Tuesday.

He narrated his flight.

The astronaut, still smiling despite his strenuous day, was in complete command. He devoted nearly half of the 1-hour, 4-minute conference to a narrative of his impressions of the flight.

The highlight was Glenn's description of the blazing re-entry—which on flight day he had described as "a real fireball."

He called it "spectacular" and said he was "cautiously apprehensive" when he thought that perhaps the heat shield had fallen off, taking away his protection from the consuming heat.

The concern was caused by fiery splinters zipping past his capsule window. He wasn't sure whether they were parts of the reverse package burning up or the heat shield disintegrating.

Reason For Concern

Earlier in the flight an erroneous signal received at the Mercury control center indicated an explosive charge might have fired, loosening the shield. So the decision was made not to jettison the reverse rocket package after it had slowed the capsule out of orbit. Its straps would keep the shield in place if it were loose.

As it turned out, Glenn said, the signal was a false one, the shield was intact, and the burning particles he saw were part of the rocket pocket.

After the conference, newsmen gave Glenn a rousing ovation and he set off for a quiet weekend with his family at an undisclosed spot.

For him, Friday was a good dry run for next week—a mammoth welcome and an address before a joint session of Congress on Monday and a ticker-tape parade in New York City on Thursday.

School Children To Welcome Glenn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public school pupils in Washington and the suburban areas of Virginia and Maryland will be free to cheer astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into the nation's capital Monday.

So that children will be able to watch the welcoming parade, school officials have agreed on the following procedures:

Washington—Schools will close at 11 a.m.

Arlington and Falls Church, Va.—Schools will be closed all day.

Prince Georges and Montgomery counties, Md., and Fairfax County and Alexandria, Va.—Schools will be open but pupils with written excuses will be dismissed as soon as excuses are presented. Written excuses will be accepted Tuesday if parents believe that reporting to school Monday would make their children late for the parade.

Integration Battle Continues On Shore

By The Associated Press

The efforts of integrationists to stop segregation in eating facilities in Maryland shifts Saturday from the General Assembly back to the Eastern Shore.

Members of the Civic Interest Group said in Baltimore that demonstrations are planned in Eastern and Denton, with students from colleges in Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia and Connecticut participating.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP from New York City, said another mass pilgrimage would be made to Annapolis for a special session of the Legislature at which the accommodations bills are to be considered.

Wilkins said the NAACP would not be satisfied with a public accommodations bill which applied to less than all of Maryland. It appeared unlikely that a statewide bill would be passed at the special session, scheduled by Gov. Tawes for March 9.

CIG issued an earlier statement criticizing Tawes for "only half-measures and Relations."

THE LION'S

The lion that can roar the loudest and bite the hardest usually gets what he wants.

That's the way it is in the animal kingdom, and sometimes the system creeps into man's world too!

Most of us have too much RELIGIOUS AWARENESS to believe that such a system is the best one. We would rather live in a world in which kindness and peace and unselfishness were the rule.

Our Churches can help us build such a world. They can turn our religious awareness into SPIRITUAL GROWTH.

On Sunday morning, the man in the armchair knows just as well as the man in the pew what is wrong with the world. But the man in the pew will be busy doing something about it!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and civilization. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sale of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Keeping Up With Hollywoodby Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — My friend Nick Condos has signed Martha William Perberg had no more for the role in Lee Gruber's tent than put his feet under (or on) his shows throughout the east after desk at MGM than I called him she finishes "Jumbo" at MGM, to find out what his and George Then the show will be re-written Seaton's first picture will be now in capsule form, and brought to they have moved from Paramount Las Vegas with Martha starring to MGM.

Without preamble, Bill said, "We're getting 'The Hook' ready to star Kirk Douglas in such a hurry that we hope to start actual shooting in May. Henry Denker has almost completed the adaptation of Vahe Katcha's novel which deals with racial problems in the Korean War although it is not strictly a war plot."

I told Bill I didn't see how Kirk could get in another movie with all he has on the fire plus a safari to Africa. "Kirk likes our story which I'm producing and George will direct — so he's agreed to do it," said Mr. P.

There'll be no more career separations for Georgiana and Ricardo Montalban. Ricardo, who leaves for Nice and the French Riviera March 20 to play the Grand Duke in "The Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm" for Martin Poll, is taking his wife right with him.

Everyone feels that Martha Raye has changed—changed for the better, that is. Not that she needed any great reformation, but she seems to be much calmer and happier now. She should be very good in the title role of "Wild Cat," which Lucille Ball created on Broadway, and that's what she's going to do next.

Higher Salary Schedule Asked For TeachersInstruction Director Also Is Proposed

A program calling for the addition of director of instruction, four physical education teachers for visits to elementary schools, and six additional teachers was submitted to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

Webster, spokesman for the Allegany County Board of Education, submitted a budget proposal calling for only a net increase of seven per cent in county funds.

One of the main features of the budget is a school board-backed program providing for an increase in teacher pay of $300 and projecting a salary program for a full four years.

More Competitive

Webster said the proposed salary scale would place the county in a more competitive position with other areas and might settle the wage question for a number of years. The additional cost in the years following 1962-63 would be considerably less than for next year. The program, if adopted, would tend to stabilize the biggest item in the county budget, he said.

Under the proposal by Webster the scale for the first year would be $4,400 for starting teachers for the 1962-63 fiscal year. The starting scale would remain the same through 1965-66.

The maximum pay for the next year would be $6,500. This would increase to $6,700 the following year; $6,900 in 1964-65 and finally $7,000 in 1965-66.

The increased cost for the program in the 1963-64 fiscal period would be $58,100; in the following year $60,500 and finally in 1965-66 the added cost would be $12,300.

Pay With Washington

This teacher salary scale would bring Allegany on par with the 1962-63 scale for Washington County and by the end of the 1963-64 period would be $100 over the 13th year of the Washington County scale. Allegany County teachers with 15 years service would reach a top of $7,000 in the 1965-66 period while Washington County would go to that salary bracket for the 16th year of experience in the 1963-64 period.

Webster also pointed out that there are increases for the supervisory staff and for secretarial and custodial personnel of the school system.

There will be an expected 672 teachers in the Allegany County public school system next school term, Webster said. Of these, 448 would be in the top-rated bracket. He contrasted this with the expectation that there may be 15 teachers retiring next year. An additional 15 teachers may also be on the retirement list for the following year, he added.

$160,655 School Budget Increase Is Requested

The proposed budget of the public school system for Allegany County for the fiscal year starting next July as submitted yesterday to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners totals $5,721,448.

Members of the Allegany County Board of Education met with the commissioners at the Court House yesterday to go over the items in the budget.

The increase in the budget for the next school term is $262,000 over the current budget, according to Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools. However, because of certain other factors the increase would be only $160,655.

The share being requested from Allegany County is $2,436,448, as compared to the $2,174,404 granted by the county in the current budget.

Estimated receipts from the state will amount to approximately $3,285,000.

Offsetting Factors

Webster contrasted the increase being asked of the county with the offsetting factors in increased monies received from the state in the incentive fund and a drop in debt service. There will be $257,000 in incentive funds received from the state, an increase of $60,000 over the current allowance, and debt service costs will drop $41,345 over the current year. This is a decline of $101,345 in county funds needed.

Webster said that the largest item in the budget is for teacher salaries and instruction costs. This totals $4,422,613, up from $3,996,453 in the current budget. Administrative costs will be $91,385, up from $85,953; operating costs of $459,464; maintenance, $155,360; transportation, $423,000; other school services such as the visiting teachers, supervisory work, health and recreation, $73,450; fixed charges for insurance, Workmen's Compensation, Social Security, etc., $66,476.

There is an item of $9,000 for capital outlay in purchasing new equipment and replacement of worn out equipment such as in science laboratories, etc.

The share paid by the county and state for the various segments of the school system are as follows:

Administration, $52,552 from the state and other sources, $38,833 from the county.

Instructional services, $2,543,268 from the state and $1,879,345 from the county.

Operation, $264,219 from the state and $195,245 from the county.

Maintenance, $89,629 from the state and $66,231 from the county.

Transportation, $243,250 from the state and $179,750 from the county.

Man Faces Trial As Wife Killer

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (UPI) —

Accused wife killer Keith Feathers will be tried in Maryland on a murder charge, Washington County's Attorney James L. Strine said Friday.

Strine said the case may be tried during the March term of court.

The states of Virginia and Maryland charged Feathers with murder after his wife's body was found in a parked car at Frederick last Jan. 29. Police said the wife, Betty Jo Feathers, 29, Kearneysville, Jefferson County, W. Va., had been shot near Winchester, Va., and transported to Maryland.

Assembly Notes Death Of Former Garrett Senator

Resolutions expressing sympathy in the death of Circuit Judge Neil C. Fraley were passed in the General Assembly yesterday.

The Senate resolution, sponsored by Garrett Senator Bernard I. Gonder, notes that Judge Fraley was a former member of the Maryland Senate.

The Garrett County Delegation introduced the expression of sympathy in the House.

Bishop Files For County Treasurer

County Treasurer James W. Bishop, 718 Washington Street, who has held that position for more than 10 years, yesterday filed the necessary papers for re-election with the County Board of Election Supervisors subject to the May 15 Republican primary.

Mr. Bishop announced his candidacy three weeks ago. There now are 32 official candidates.

Friendly Suit Settled Here

Smith said the county will be selected by the time the State Board of Education meets March 15-16 but that one of the requirements for participation is that a county "must express interest in the program." So far, he said no county has expressed that interest to him.

The county selected also must be in a depressed area and have a high percentage of high school dropouts. Smith said that under the former category, only Berkeley County would not be included and in the latter, about half the counties in the state would be eligible.

He is in favor of a County Purchasing Agent, stating that the county is "big business" with a tax levy of approximately $5 million. He believes that the commissioners should be equally involved in all departments of county government rather than in specific fields.

The candidate for a fourth term as county commissioner is a member of Cumberland Lodge #63, BPO Elks; Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles; South Cumberland Business and Civic Association, Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, the Allegany County Farm Bureau, Lonaconing Republican Club, United Commercial Travelers and St. Luke's Lutheran Church. He is married to the former Miss Helen Schenck of Lonaconing. They have one daughter, Mrs. Richard Gordon, this city, and two grandchildren.

The training classes are being held to help prepare the youths for the National Explorer Scout Bowling Tournament which will be held next month.

Todays class will begin at 11 a.m. and will include film strips and instructions by area bowlers.

Explorer Scouts will compete in the national event by rolling the sanctioned games at The Bowler and then sending in their scores to the national headquarters for the event.

Bowling Classes Set For Scouts

A series of bowling instructions for Explorer Scouts of Potomac Council will begin this morning at The Bowler on Winchester Road.

Deterrent Power And Bomb Tests

When Russia set off an atomic weapon underground some days ago the blast was detected and announced by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission. The "yield" was small by comparison with the bombs tested last fall.

The fact that U. S. scientists detected this test might seem to indicate that the Russians were right in arguing at the test ban conference at Geneva, before the talks were broken off, that an agreement to stop testing required no enforcement machinery. They contended that detection methods are sophisticated enough to make inspection unnecessary.

Is that the case? The answer is a resounding no.

When Russia broke the voluntary moratorium on nuclear testing last fall, the world had a demonstration of what could happen under a simple arrangement to refrain from testing. Soviet scientists proceeded to stage a long series of tests. After a considerable delay the U. S. resumed underground tests.

As long as the U. S. has the fearful power to destroy Russia if attacked, the deterrent may be sufficient. But there are risks involved. It is possible that the Russians are working on a means of impairing U. S. nuclear capability. They may be planning a new series of tests that will have that effect.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Right Wing Battle

The advantage of a free country is that no one need be silent. When the Left Wing was moving public opinion back in the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt, there were so many splinter groups that neither Karl Marx nor Bakunin would have recognized any of them as socialistic.

Now there is a Rightist reaction and the same splintering excitement is making a fierce noise. What is wrong that there are no definitions. A man calls himself a conservative and immediately he is in a wrangle, principally with other conservatives.

What, for instance, does a member of the John Birch Society stand for? Well, he is opposed to Marxism in any form; he wants to restore what he calls "Americanism," which leads to confusion because he does not quite mean Jeffersonian Democracy or the inherent equality of man as expressed in the Declaration of Independence, although he is not opposed altogether to either. He believes in the Constitution but not in the authority of the Supreme Court because he does not trust the Chief Justice, Earl Warren.

He feels that the people should have freedom of choice, but not to vote for anyone named Kennedy. As one reads the material provided by Bob Welch, he reaches the conclusion that this is a sincere form of vigilantism.

Dr. Fred Schwarz is apparently a brilliant orator who can stir the emotions of great masses, but whereas the published works of Robert Welch indicate an inclination to study problems, what I have seen of Schwarz's effort indicates anger, excitement but no philosophic approach to anti-Marxism. It angers Dr. Schwarz's followers to question his intellectual prowess, they believing that he is the greatest living authority on the subject. Although Dr. Schwarz is a Baptist evangelist, reports from Australia indicate that he is of Jewish origin.

In the center stand many groups who may be said to follow the "National Review" and the philosophic concepts of Bill Buckley, Jr. The most notable expression of this group is YAF, a body of students who write, make speeches and are very active in their attack on Communism. Within YAF (Young Americans for Freedom), cliqueism has manifested itself as it should, but it is likely that in time, several organizations will derive from this one.

Also in the center stand the ancients, the anti-Communists who have been battling Marxism since 1917 or more recently and who have long strategic and tactical experience in the fight. Many of them are former Communists and, on the whole, they have a clear perception of what the quarrel is about.

Many of the Extreme Rightists unfortunately know the substance neither of Marxism nor anti-Marxism.

Shouting, yelling, booing, mass-meetings, the raising of enormous funds — these are not the means for saving the world from the terrorism of revolution; nor will counter-revolution change much in the circumstances of current armaments, nor will vigilanism serve any other purpose than to expose the Right to ridicule and contempt.

What is needed is to rebuild our economy so that the private enterprise system is restored to greater strength. Arresting the trend toward socialism will not be easy when we are forced to spend huge amounts of our national increment for war, but if we do not find a means to achieve that end, there can be no advantage in opposing Marxism.

We must recognize that the basis of our way of life lies in the first hundred or so words of the Declaration of Independence, which gives to this nation a philosophy of life based upon Natural Law which must mean that all human beings are created by God equal in His sight. If the word, America, does not mean that, it means nothing. It is this sense of equality under the law that is growing increasingly offensive to some Americans who feel that there is peril in this idea.

They dare not face the moral and intellectual consequences of the word, created, which, once accepted, shatters Marxism. Those who call themselves conservatives, however, dare not abandon the thousands of years of history that have preceded us and have given to our period its particular character, which rightly is called the Judaic-Christian civilization, for it is based upon the hereditary love of both Jews and Christians to which is given the word, "the Bible."

This then is the weapon for fighting Marxism—a weapon not of hate but of love.

'Step In And Our Problems Are Solved'

The Three-Horse Parley In Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON

By Joseph Alsop

At the White House Wednesday morning, there was an inconspicuous meeting of considerable significance. Those present were the President, his chief foreign and defense policy-makers, and the Congressional leaders of both parties, including the House and Senate specialists in foreign and defense policy. U. S. policy in Southeast Asia was the chief topic.

Fresh from his Hawaiian journey to confer with Adm. Felt, Secretary of Defense Robert Mac-

Namara described the nature and the aims of the increasingly important American engagement in South Vietnam. Gov. Averell Harriman told the other half of the story, explaining the American drive for a political settlement in neighboring Laos, which is intended to lead to American disengagement there.

Searching questions were asked, by Republicans as well as Democrats. No voice was raised, however, either against the American engagement in Vietnam or against the intended disengagement in Laos. Thus one must assume — at least until further notice from the Republicans — that both aspects of our Southeast Asian policy now enjoy bi-partisan support.

What then is the meaning of the policy presented at this White House meeting? To begin with, the engagement, the American effort in South Vietnam has been vastly increased. The ablest

MacNamara could find, Gen. Paul Harkins, has been named to command the U. S. military mission there. The officers and men of the U. S. mission have been given orders both to enter combat zones and to fire back if fired upon — which really means they are intermittently in combat.

All this adds up to a solid

American commitment to defeat the North Vietnamese Communists' guerrilla attack on South Vietnam at all costs. In South Vietnam, in truth, the U. S. has gone too far down the road, by now, to permit any second thoughts or turnings back.

"No, I photographed Pope Pius

at 8 or 8:30 a. m. — but never gave an extra edge of grave meaning, in turn, to the attempted American disengagement in Laos. The President, his chief foreign and defense policy-makers, and the Congressional leaders of both parties, including the House and Senate specialists in foreign and defense policy. U. S. policy in Southeast Asia was the chief topic.

The chances of true Laotian neutrality depend on the outcome of three related bets. The "neutralist" Prince Souvanna Phouma, whom the U. S. is trying to install as the new Prime Minister of Laos, must sincerely want Laos to be neutral. The Russians must also be sincere in their pledges to Gov. Harriman, to get the North Vietnamese Communist invaders out of Laos as soon as a neutral, all-party government is somewhat doubtful results; or to go all out for a political settlement, which may produce a neutral Laos, but may also produce a Communist-controlled Laos.

The chances of true Laotian neutrality depend on the outcome of three related bets. The "neutralist" Prince Souvanna Phouma, whom the U. S. is trying to install as the new Prime Minister of Laos, must sincerely want Laos to be neutral. The Russians must also be sincere in their pledges to Gov. Harriman, to get the North Vietnamese Communist invaders out of Laos as soon as a neutral, all-party government is a political equivalent of a three-horse parley. As such, it would be an indefensible gamble if the only alternative were not both repellent and doubtfully rewarding. But makers of three-horse parleys, though they may hope to win, must certainly consider the consequences of losing their bets.

In this instance, the consequence of losing the bet will appear in two areas. If Laos falls under effective Communist control, there will be an increase in the already serious pressure on the Lao-populated provinces of northeast Thailand. Simultaneously, Laos will also be fully organized as a transit-route for men and supplies from Communist North Vietnam into the south.

This movement through Laos has already reached menacing proportions. About a thousand cadres a month are coming down the so-called Ho Chi-minh trail, to strengthen the guerrilla onslaught in South Vietnam.

It is anyone's guess what will happen later on, when and if cadres and supplies for the guerrillas can be carried by truck to the South Vietnamese border. But if this occurs, one thing is virtually certain. The expedients now being used to prevent a Communist victory in South Vietnam will cease to be effective. Gen. Harkins and his men will no longer be enough.

Thus the end of this chancy road can be "going to Hanoi." The Pentagon phrase means refusing any longer to accept the peculiar double standard that now prevails in Southeast Asia. It means using U. S. power to attack the attackers of South Vietnam where it will really hurt them, at home in North Vietnam. In the circumstances, one must pray that the three-horse parley in Laos will be successful, and that Gen. Harkins will prove every bit as efficient as he is cracked up to be.

McNamara probably will look fresh and vigorous in the photos, but it's a good thing that Karsh is the photographer and not the subject.

HANDBOOK — Some 500 Young

Republicans from all over the United States recently attended a seminar in Washington concerned with educating them on how to be good politicians.

McNamara, one of the most energetic young men of the frenetic Kennedy administration, works a 12-hour day, but Karsh didn't know this when he agreed to photograph him whenever it would fit into the Cabinet officer's schedule.

The handbook advises would-be political leaders to "keep saints happy, woo the savables, ignore the sinners."

In order to understand the advice it is necessary to refer to some definitions in the book: Saints are Loyal Republicans, Savables are those who can be persuaded to vote Republican, and Sinners are, of course, rock-ribbed Democrats.

Willingly. Last night I couldn't sleep for fear the hotel operator would fail to wake me and I'd be late or miss the appointment."

McNamara probably will look fresh and vigorous in the photos, but it's a good thing that Karsh is the photographer and not the subject.

Karsh was in Washington working on a pictorial book of the New Frontiersmen and finally succeeded in setting up a camera appointment with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Kennedy administration, works a 12-hour day, but Karsh didn't know this when he agreed to photograph him whenever it would fit into the Cabinet officer's schedule.

The convenient time set by Mc-

Namara turned out to be 7 a. m., one recent day. Karsh was there, and on time. And he got his pictures. But he didn't like it. Asked if he often made appointments for such outlandish hours, Karsh replied:

"No, I photographed Pope Pius

willingly. Last night I couldn't sleep for fear the hotel operator would fail to wake me and I'd be late or miss the appointment."

LaSalle Wins In Overtime, 57-53; Fort Hill Beats Rebels, 75-70

Explorers Nip Allegany For 18th Victory

Kaplon Sends Tilt Into Extra Period; Mike Long Gets 21

LaSalle's usually hot shooting Explorers were caught way off their game last night by city rival Allegany, but still managed to pull out a 57-53 victory over the Campers in an overtime struggle at the half-filled Campobello gymnasium.

From a championship standpoint the game meant nothing, since LaSalle had already clinched the city title by beating Fort Hill twice and winning the opener from Allegany (67-50), but the underdog Campers wanted desperately to win and nearly did just that, sending the game into overtime on a pair of free throws with six seconds left.

Dave Vance and John Mathias paced the winners with 23 and 20 points, respectively, while Ronnie Williams and Orville Harper set the pace for the Indians with 31 and 23 markers.

Franklin defeated Mathias in the consolation contest by the score of 77-57.

John Mathias, Dave Vance and Doug Wolfe, of Moorefield; Orville Harper and Ronnie Williams, Circleville, and Gary Strawderman, Mathias, and Larry Hedrick, Franklin, were named on the all-tournament team.

Score Six Straight

Kaplon also scored the first point of the overtime frame when he hit on a free throw with 1:40 remaining, but the Explorers then reeled off six straight tallies to sew up the decision, their 18th in 20 starts and eighth in a row. Allegany finished its campaign with a record of 12 wins and 10 defeats including a 41-40 loss to Fort Hill in a playoff to determine the County Class AA champion.

After Kaplon made the first free throw on the one-and-one situation to give Allegany a 51-50 lead, his second attempt failed and in the scramble for the rebound, Alco's Kenny Davis and the Explorers' Vince Catania both wound up with it, creating a jump ball situation.

The tip was controlled by the spring-legged Davis, but LaSalle's John Sloan came up with the ball at mid-court and drove it for a layup to give the Irish a 52-51 edge. Two free throws apiece by Mike Long and Joe Nolan shot the Explorers out in front by five with just 34 seconds to go before Allegany could score again. The Camper's Roger Flanagan made a jumper from the keyhole with 23 seconds left and Long concluded the scoring 10 seconds later with a foul toss.

Explorers Fall Behind

Except for three ties—at two, three and five—Allegany led throughout the first period and halfway through the second before the visitors caught up. LaSalle experienced what was no doubt its poorest shooting quarter in the first eight minutes, hitting on only two of 16 shots from the floor to fall behind, 15-7.

Sparked by Long and Sloan, the Explorers began whittling away at the Camper lead in the second period, finally going ahead, 23-22, when Long sank two free throws with 3:43 remaining in the half.

This lead reached ten points (38-28) at one stage of the third period, and held up until the 4:06 mark of the final frame when Jimmy Cox's one-hand swish from outside tied the count at 46-all. After Joe Nolan and Kaplon traded baskets, Nolan put the Explorers in front again on a field goal with 1:40 to go.

With 29 seconds showing on the clock, Long was fouled by Cox in the latter's efforts to get the ball. The try was muffed, however, and Cox clutched the rebound. Allegany got its opportunity to stay in the game when Kaplon, driving for the basket, was fouled by Hard.

Long Collects 21

Long took scoring honors for the game, but his 21-point total was below his per-game average of 26.6. Long didn't connect from the field until 1:13 had elapsed in the second period, and all of his six field goals were scored in the middle two quarters. Mike converted nine of 13 free throws to go along with his half-dozen two-pointers. Sloan wound up with 15 points for the Explorers, who as a team made only 19 of 75 field goal attempts for a sub-par 25.7 percentage.

Allegany made one more fielder in seven fewer tries, but the Campers were outscored from the foul line, where the Explorers made 19 of 25, compared to Alco's 13-18.

Flanagan and David shared scoring honors for the Campers with 14 apiece, with the latter playing his usual strong game under the boards. Kaplon contributed 10 points to the Allegany attack.

AND FAMILY

We wish to take this means to thank all our many friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and following the death of our beloved husband, father and brother, Mr. G. Stiles. We wish to thank the staff of Memorial Hospital who so cheerfully performed their duties. We are grateful to those who sent floral tributes, cars for the funeral or aided in any manner. We wish to express our gratitude to Rev. Paul Westcoat, Rev. Ron Mallay and the friends who were pallbearers.

Assembly Gets Civil Defense Beefup Package

Would Allow Use Of Matching Funds

By HERB THOMPSON
ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Legislation enabling Maryland to participate in a federal program of community fallout shelters and otherwise strengthen the state's civil defense program was introduced in the General Assembly Friday.

Drafted by a Legislative Committee which has been holding public hearings around the state since last summer, it provides for:

1. A $6 million bond issue to be issued by the state on a matching basis with the federal and local governments for construction of community shelters adjacent to schools, hospitals or public welfare structures.

2. Emergency powers for the governor to act for disabled boards of county commissioners until new governments are established. He also could name state central committees, where none exist, to fill vacancies in the Legislature. County governments would be empowered to fill municipal posts.

Succession Assured

The state has already provided a line of succession to the governorship in event of an atomic attack.

3. Special taxing powers for local governments during an emergency so they could continue functioning.

4. Exemption of civil defense workers from liability for damages as a result of work performed during an emergency.

5. Placing of certain key civil defense positions, at state and local levels, in the merit system and requiring counties to have such local staffs, personnel and program as set by the state agency.

The program was encompassed in 11 bills and three joint resolutions introduced by five senators who served on the legislative study committee. They were H. Winship Wheatley Jr., D-Prince Georges, the committee chairman, and Sens. Paul A. Dorf, D-Baltimore, Edward T. Hall, R-Calvert, Joseph V. Mach, D-Baltimore 2nd, and John L. Sanford, D-Worcester.

Is CD Request

The bond issue bill for community shelters was introduced at the request of the State Civil Defense Agency and is contingent upon passage of legislation now before Congress.

President Kennedy included $460 million in his budget to be distributed to states for such shelters on the basis of their school populations. Maryland would receive 2 per cent or approximately $6 million of the total.

The federal government would pay up to half the cost of such shelters with state and local governments matching it.

The specially built shelters would be in addition to the program now under way earmarking certain buildings for public shelter use.

One of the committee's resolutions urges that Congress increase the federal aid that would be given in this state. It points out that Maryland houses many federal reservations, adjoins the District of Columbia and is in a prime target area.

Another resolution requests a more concerted and active policy by federal, state and local governments on providing community fallout shelters on a matching basis "in every possible public building throughout the country."

The civil defense legislation was introduced prior to weekend adjournment of the Legislature.

Raise For Teachers

Also coming into the hopper were bills to give public school teachers pay raises averaging $249 at a cost of $7.4 million, including Social Security and retirement costs. Representing the Maryland State Teachers Association drive for a $4,000-$6,000 state guaranteed scale, they were sponsored by 34 delegates and six senators.

The Senate gave final approval to a bill to raise the pay of circuit judges and sent the measure to the House. It calls for the state to boost its pay of such judges from $15,000 to $20,000 a year and provides that local governments cannot supplement these salaries beyond a total of $23,000.

The House, meanwhile, postponed until Monday a final vote on a bill already approved by the Senate to raise the pay of Court of Appeals judges by $4,000.

The House advanced to third reading, without discussion or debate, a bill to create a self-insurance fund for savings and loan associations which would be operated by the industry with the state screening all applicants.

C. N. Wilkinson Files For County Board

Seeks Fourth Term As Commissioner

Charles N. "Jerry" Wilkinson, Dehaven Road, who has served three terms as a county commissioner, yesterday filed as a candidate for the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with the County Board of Election Supervisors subject to the May 15 Republican primary.

He is the sixth Republican to file for county commissioner. Two Democrats also have filed.

Mr. Wilkinson served as a county commissioner from 1942 until 1950. Defeated in the 1950 GOP primary by a margin of 32 votes, he regained a position on the Board in 1954, when he led the ticket. In 1958, he declined to seek a fourth term and has been out of office since December 1958.

One-Time Railroader

A one-time employee of the Western Maryland Railway Company, he later operated a grocery and was a truck and auto tire salesman for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. For the past ten years he has operated a package liquor store.

Mr. Wilkinson is a son of the late Charles Nice Wilkinson, Sr., who at one time was a member of the State Roads Commission. His father also served as city tax collector, state and county tax collector and was chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County.

During the four year period when he was chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, a $1,000,000 County Bond Issue was approved to finance the county's share of the cost of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

He sponsored and saw the completion of the County Infirmary. He also introduced resolutions calling for construction of the now existing high schools in Mt. Savage and Lonaconing and worked for higher pay for the teachers of Allegany County as well as for higher pensions.

Introduced Plan

The GOP candidate for county commissioner also pointed out that he introduced the proposal for sale of automobile license tags at the Court House as a convenience to county motorists. He advocated improvements to secondary roads and helped obtain surplus food for needy families of the County.

Mr. Wilkinson observed that as early as December, 1954, he recommended that a study be undertaken to determine whether Savage River water might be piped into Allegany County for Cumberland's use and also to benefit the Georges Creek communities.

The present county commissioners authorized an engineering survey on this possible source of water last May.

The county commissioner candidate who stressed that he is not controlled by any individual, group or groups but is interested in working for all taxpayers, cited some of the goals for which he

McKeldin Says National GOP Pressures Him

Wants Candidate For U.S. Senate

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin said Friday he was under pressure from the Republican National Committee to run for U.S. senator in the May primary.

McKeldin, who served as chief executive from 1951 to 1959, said some Maryland Republicans of stature also had urged him to seek the seat now held by Republican John Marshall Butler.

Others, he said, want him to seek the gubernatorial nomination. McKeldin has been mentioned most prominently for the latter office in past months.

The former governor repeated, however, that "I am not a candidate for any office," adding: "Unless there is a demonstrated demand for it I will not considerer filing for any office."

He said about the same thing last week during a speech at a Lincoln Day dinner in Baltimore. At that time, he said if he filed, it probably would be at the last minute.

March 5 is the filing deadline just 10 days away.

"In the last week, I have noted a rise in the tempo of pressure from those who would have me run for office," said McKeldin, also a former mayor of Baltimore.

"I am still not assured that there is the demonstrated demand for me that I must have if I am to file for office."

McKeldin, who is expected to meet with Maryland GOP leaders within the next few days, said Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was among the national party officials urging him to seek the Senate nomination.

Goldwater is the leading spokesman for the conservative wing of the Republican Party. McKeldin, on the other hand, is a liberal.

Elimination Of Parking Fees Slated

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Washington County representatives in the Legislature announced Friday that the Department of Forests and Parks had agreed to eliminate auto parking fees at recreation areas which do not have swimming or boating facilities.

Sen. George E. Snyder said he and the Washington County delegates had been pushing for elimination of the fees since 1959.

"They amounted to double taxation," Snyder said. "Residents of Maryland were taxed to support the parks and then had to pay to use them."

Snyder said the parking fees also were a deterrent to attracting out-of-state tourists.

A special committee of the Legislative Council headed by Del. William M. Houck, D-Frederick, also had called upon the Department of Forests and Parks the past two years to discontinue the fees, most of which were cents.

Newly Married Women Must Change Records

Election Board Requires Step

It's not a crime to get married. However a woman who gets married has the obligation to have the registration records of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors changed so that she is listed by her married name.

John R. Kelly, Democratic registrar and chief clerk of the board, reported that written notices were mailed this week to some 52 women who have been married in the last six months of 1961 and are still registered under their maiden names.

If they do not make the necessary change at the office of the County Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House, their names will be removed on March 6. They will be required to re-register in order to vote May 15.

This removal of the names of married women still registered by their maiden names is provided under Article 33, Section 43 (g) of the Maryland Registration and Election Laws.

Sen. George E. Snyder said he and the Washington County delegates had been pushing for elimination of the fees since 1959.

"They amounted to double taxation," Snyder said. "Residents of Maryland were taxed to support the parks and then had to pay to use them."

Snyder said the parking fees also were a deterrent to attracting out-of-state tourists.

Dick Crenna Acting Rarity, Never Tasted Career Failure

Luke Of 'The Real McCoys', Dick 'Regrets' Easy Climb

In the world of entertainment where being logical doesn't always make good sense, one of the worst things that can happen to an actor is to be too successful.

This is the bemused opinion of Dick Crenna, who regrets the fact that he never tasted financial defeat during the two decades or so he has been acting in radio and on television.

"If I had only bombed out a few times," Dick begins, then pauses . . . "But what the heck. That's the way it goes . . ."

Dick today is familiar to television viewers as "Luke McCoy," Walter Brennan's grandson on ABC-TV's long-run "The Real McCoys." He is remembered by radio fans as the pixilated high school student, "Walter Denton," on "Our Miss Brooks."

A native of Los Angeles, Dick got into show business at the age of 11 after his distraught mother learned he was imitating guests at the hotel where she was a switchboard operator.

Dick auditioned for a radio spot with a program called "Boy Scout Jamboree" and was hired.

"It was so easy," he recalls.

From there he went to big money network shows — "The Hardy Family," "Mayor of the Town."

Despite his busy radio career, Dick graduated from high school in Los Angeles with top honors in 1944 and gained a new sponsor — the U. S. Army. Dick soon found he was miscast, and put his talents to better use as an entertainer with the Armed Forces Radio.

He came out of the service in 1947 and wound up opposite Eve Arden on "Our Miss Brooks" show in 1948. Four years later, when it took to television, he went right along. Dick found time to get a BA degree in English at Southern Cal at age 28.

When the series went off TV in

DICK CRENNNA

1952, Dick took a year's vacation in Europe and returned ready for something new. "I left 'Walter Denton' over there," he explained. "The role didn't type me, strangely enough."

Dick tried out for the part of "Luke" on "The Real McCoys," and got it without any trouble. He has made money, and has profited by working with three-time Academy Award Winner Brennan. In 1959 Dick received the Best Supporting Actor Emmy nomination.

"It hasn't spoiled me," he explains.

Dick's success has provided a lovely home for his wife, Penni, and their two youngsters.

"But," adds Dick, "I wish it hadn't been this easy. I feel I have missed something."

'Real McCoys' Really Affecting Kathy Nolan

Kathy Nolan of "The Real McCoys" says that playing Kate in the series for five years has given her a new standard of personal values.

"Every time I find myself about to make an extravagant purchase," says Kathy. "I hear Kate McCoy whisper in my ear, 'Tain't fittin' to throw money away!'"

They discussed neurosurgery for an hour and the stranger never got wise.

'Lawman' Star Sees Westerns' Benefit

Big John Russell, starring for the fourth consecutive year in the "Lawman" series, thinks that, contrary to the opinions of many critics, Westerns play a beneficial part in the education of youngsters.

"Violence is and always has been an unfortunate habit in certain types of people," he states.

"Pretending it doesn't exist will certainly not prevent its cropping up in this and future generations."

"The 'Lawman' series," continues John, "teaches that greed, lust for power, and other unsavory emotions only lead to an ignominious end."

John Russell exemplifies the typical American family man.

Excuse Me, Sir, That Word's Rodeo, Not Radio

Slim Pickens, who does character parts in "Lawman," and similarly themed westerns, was a rodeo star before turning actor. In 1942 Slim started a tour of duty with the Air Corps. They sent him to radio school.

"After two weeks of trying to learn code," Slim recalls, "complained to a sergeant that I shouldn't be there. He said it was in my record book that I had eight years experience in radio. 'Not radio.' I screamed, 'RODEO.' But the damage had been done and Slim stayed on.

A tea sponsor is reported to be underwriting the "Julie Andrews and Carol Burnett at Carnegie Hall" special.
